QCF permits the transfer of credit from one qualification to another.		Learners who've already achieved one or more of the units included in this qualification elsewhere can transfer the credit already achieved.
Assessed via a portfolio of evidence.	Using a portfolio approach allows centres to be flexible in devising their own assessment methods based on the preferences of their learners such as audio, visual and written evidence. There is less demand on centres to organise a test and it requires no additional resources over and above the norm of blended learning and delivery.	Caters for different learning styles.
