Section 1: introduction

If you are using this qualification specification for planning purposes, please make sure that you are using the most recent version.

Aims and objectives

The Level 5 Diploma in Leadership and Management for Adult Care aims to develop and assess the knowledge and skills relating to leadership and management within adult care. Learners undertaking this qualification will be working in a managerial role in a variety of adult care settings.

As learners engage with the units of this qualification, they will learn more about how to develop leadership and management skills. As a leader in adult care, the learner will become an important role model for others, inspiring staff and raising aspirations. Learners will be able to respond to drivers in adult care through strong leadership, values base, innovation and business insight.

We sincerely hope that learners will enjoy their study of the Level 5 Diploma in Leadership and Management for Adult Care and find that they are able to reflect on their own practice, implement changes that improve experiences and outcomes for individuals, and lead others within adult care services.

This qualification aims to:

- focus on the study of leadership and management within the adult care sector
- offer breadth and depth of study, incorporating a key core of knowledge and skills
- provide opportunities to acquire a number of practical and technical skills

The objectives of this qualification are to:

- support the development of registered managers of adult social care services
- specifically develop the leadership and management skills of learners

Support handbook

This qualification specification must be used alongside the mandatory support handbook which can be found on the NCFE website This contains additional supporting information to help with planning, delivery and assessment.

This qualification specification contains all the qualification-specific information you will need that is not covered in the support handbook.

Guidance for entry and registration

This qualification is designed for those working in a managerial role in adult care settings who are looking to progress their career. It is also appropriate for managers who have not yet achieved a vocational qualification at level 5.

Registration is at the discretion of the centre, in accordance with equality legislation and should be made on the Portal.

There are no specific prior skills/knowledge a learner must have for this qualification. However, learners will need to be at least 19 years of age and may find it helpful if they have already achieved a level 3 qualification.

Centres are responsible for ensuring that all learners are capable of achieving the learning outcomes and complying with the relevant literacy, numeracy, and health and safety requirements.

Learners registered on this qualification should not undertake another qualification at the same level, or with the same/a similar title, as duplication of learning may affect funding eligibility.

Achieving this qualification

To be awarded this qualification, learners are required to successfully achieve a minimum of 95 credits: 80 credits from the mandatory units and a minimum of 15 credits from the optional units.

Please refer to the list of units and themes in appendix A or the unit summaries in section 2 for further information.

To achieve this qualification, learners must successfully demonstrate their achievement of all learning outcomes of the units as detailed in this qualification specification. A partial certificate may be requested for learners who do not achieve their full qualification but have achieved at least one whole unit, partial certificate fees can be found in the fees and pricing document on the NCFE website.

Progression

Learners who achieve this qualification could progress to the following:

- employment within the adult care sector in job roles such as:
 - o deputy manager
 - manager
 - o assistant manager
 - o care broker
 - o case manager
- further or higher education

Resource requirements

There are no mandatory resource requirements for this qualification, but centres must ensure learners have access to suitable resources to enable them to cover all the appropriate learning outcomes.

The following documents are mandatory reading for any centre involved in the delivery, assessment and administration of this qualification:

• Skills for Care and Development assessment principles

Real work environment (RWE) requirement/recommendation

Where the assessment requirements for a unit allows, it is essential that organisations wishing to operate a real work environment (RWE) do so in an environment that reflects a real work setting and replicates the key characteristics of the workplace in which the skill to be assessed is normally employed. This is often used to support simulation.

Work/industry placement experience

Learners will need to be working in a managerial role in an appropriate setting to be able to study for the Level 5 Diploma in Leadership and Management for Adult Care.

How the qualification is assessed

Assessment is the process of measuring a learner's skill, knowledge and understanding against the standards set in a qualification.

This qualification is internally assessed and externally quality assured.

The assessment consists of one component:

• an internally assessed portfolio of evidence which is assessed by centre staff and externally quality assured by NCFE (internal quality assurance (IQA) must still be completed by the centre as usual)

This qualification must be assessed in line with Skills for Care and Development assessment principles.

The Level 5 Diploma in Leadership and Management for Adult Care is a competence-based qualification (CBQ).

A CBQ may be based on national occupational standards (NOS) and is a job-ready qualification which requires learners to demonstrate the skills and knowledge required to work in a specific industry. A CBQ must be assessed in the workplace or in a RWE in accordance with the relevant assessment guidance. For further information on the guidance, please visit the qualifications page on the NCFE website.

Learners who are not successful can resubmit work within the registration period; however, a charge may apply in cases where additional external quality assurance visits are required.

All the evidence generated by the learner will be assessed against the standards expected of a level 5 learner for each learning outcome.

Unless otherwise stated in this specification, all learners taking this qualification must be assessed in English and all assessment evidence presented for external quality assurance must be in English.

Internal assessment

We have created a sample task for one of the internally assessed units, which can be found within a separate document in the member's area of our website. This task is not mandatory and can be used as guidance for creating internal assessment tasks. You can contextualise this task to suit the needs of your learners to help them build up their portfolio of evidence. The task has been designed to cover all knowledge learning outcomes for the unit LMAC 2B Regulatory processes for adult care and to provide opportunities for stretch and challenge. For further information about contextualising the task, please contact the curriculum team.

Each learner must create a portfolio of evidence generated from appropriate assessment tasks, which demonstrates achievement of all the learning outcomes associated with each unit. The assessment tasks should allow the learner to respond to a real-life situation that they may face when in employment. On completion of each unit, learners must declare that the work produced is their own and the assessor must countersign this. Examples of suitable evidence for the portfolio for each unit are provided in section 2.

A centre may create their own internal assessment tasks. There are 4 essential elements in the production of successful centre-based assessment tasks.

These are:

- ensuring the assessment tasks are meaningful with clear, assessable outcomes
- appropriate coverage of the content, learning outcomes, or assessment criteria
- having a valid and engaging context or scenario
- including sufficient opportunities for stretch and challenge for higher attainers

Please see the guidance document for creation of internal assessment tasks on our website.

Please refer to the Skills for Care and Development assessment principles document for further information. This can be found at the end of section 2 in this specification and on the qualifications page on the NCFE website.

Assessment guidance is provided for each unit. Assessors can use other methods of assessment as long as they are valid and reliable and maintain the integrity of the assessment and of the standards required of this qualification.

Section 2: unit content and assessment guidance

This section provides details of the structure and content of this qualification.

The types of evidence listed are for guidance purposes only. Within learners' portfolios, other types of evidence are acceptable if all learning outcomes are covered and if the evidence generated can be internally and externally quality assured. For approval of methods of internal assessment other than portfolio building, please contact your external quality assurer.

The explanation of terms explains how the terms used in the unit content are applied to this qualification. This document can be found in section 3.

1. Understand the context of relationships and partnership working

1.1 Legislation:

Could include, but is not limited to:

- Care Act 2014
- Mental Capacity Act 2005
- Health and Social Care Act 2012
- General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)
- data security and protection
- subject access requests (SAR)
- data control
- sharing information
- safeguarding

1.1 Regulation:

Regulations underpinning the adult social care inspection system in England at the time of publication Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2014

1.1 Others:

In this context, 'others' may include agencies and other organisations.

1.2 Individuals:

A person accessing care and support. The individual, or individuals, will normally refer to the person or people that the learner is providing care and support for.

1.2 Carers:

A person who provides unpaid support to a partner, family member, friend or neighbour who could not manage without this help. This is distinct from a care worker, who is paid to care for people.

1.2 Positive outcomes:

An 'outcome' refers to individuals' aims or objectives; the things individuals want to achieve or need to happen (for example, continuing to live at home or being able to go out and about).

1.3 Partnerships:

Working effectively together with the individual, professionals, networks, communities, agencies and organisations to enhance wellbeing and support positive and improved outcomes.

1.3 Collaboration:

Working with other partners, understanding and prioritising their needs and establishing mutually beneficial and respectful relationships, whilst remaining focused on own desired outcomes, needs and agenda.

1.3 Co-production:

An equal relationship between individuals accessing a service and the people responsible for the service. They work together to determine the best way to decide and deliver services and implement those decisions together. Co-production recognises that people who use social care services (and their families) have knowledge and experiences that can be used to help make services better, not only for themselves but for other people who access social care.

1.3 Others:

In this context, 'others' refers to everyone a worker is likely to come in to contact with, including, but is not limited to:

- carers, loved ones, family, friends of those accessing care and support services
- colleagues and peers
- team members
- managers and supervisors
- professionals from other services
- visitors to the work setting
- members of the community
- volunteers

1.4 Relationships:

Learners should consider the range of relationships important to individuals they are supporting. Consideration should go beyond immediate family and next of kin, and may include partners/spouses, extended family, friends, pets, neighbours, people in the community and other professionals. Learners should consider intimacy, sexuality and sexual relationships.

1.4 Community:

Could include but is not limited to how the individual is supported to engage with and access their local community (for example, social and recreational activities, transport, leisure services, spiritual and cultural services and support, hobbies, education, housing provision and voluntary activities). For some individuals, their community will be very close to home, for others it will be much wider.

1.5 Working collaboratively:

Collaborative working with other partners, understanding and prioritising their needs and establishing mutually beneficial and respectful relationships, whilst remaining focused on own desired outcomes, needs and agenda.

1.6 Systems leadership:

Systems leadership seeks to affect change for good across interconnecting systems – for example, health and social care – through leadership and collaboration that extends the usual limits of resources and responsibility.

1.7 Features:

Must include, but are not limited to:

- building transparency and sharing information openly and honestly (in line with regulations)
- a diversity of skills and perspectives
- creating psychological safety within partnerships and teams, which includes a willingness to cooperate and an ability to openly disagree
- an ability to understand and prioritise the needs of other partners, without compromising on your own desired outcomes

1.7 Collaborative:

Working with other partners, understanding and prioritising their needs and establishing mutually beneficial and respectful relationships, whilst remaining focused on own desired outcomes, needs and agenda.

1.9 Different communication methods:

Learners must consider a range of communication methods including digital communications.

Delivery and assessment guidance

This unit must be assessed in line with Skills for Care and Development assessment principles.

1. Understand the principles and values of outcomes-based and person-centred practice

1.1 Strength-based approaches:

Also referred to as asset-based approaches. This approach focuses on individuals' strengths, resources and what they are able to do themselves to keep well and maintain independence.

1.1 Person-centred practice:

An approach that sees the individual accessing social care services as an equal partner in their care and support who is at the centre of all decisions relevant to them.

1.1 Active participation:

A way of working that recognises an individual's right to participate in the activities and relationships of everyday life as independently as possible; the individual is regarded as an active partner in their own care or support, rather than a passive recipient.

1.1 Outcomes-based practice:

An 'outcome' refers to individuals' aims or objectives – the things individuals want to achieve or need to happen. Outcomes-based practice focuses on supporting individuals to achieve the outcomes most important to them and offers innovative approaches to enable this.

1.2 Individual:

A person accessing care and support. The individual, or individuals, will normally refer to the person or people that the learner is providing care and support for.

1.2 Wellbeing:

Wellbeing is a broad concept relating to the following areas in particular:

- personal dignity
- physical and mental health
- emotional wellbeing
- protection from abuse and neglect
- control over day-to-day life (including control over care and support and the way it is provided)
- participation in work
- education or training
- participation in recreation
- social and economic wellbeing
- domestic, family and personal relationships

1.3 Integrated service provision:

Joined up, co-ordinated care and support that is planned and organised around the desires, needs and preferences of the individual. It may involve health, social care, housing, education and other services.

2. Be able to lead practice to facilitate positive outcomes and promote wellbeing and independence for individuals

2.1 Those important to them:

Could include, but is not limited to, those the individual chooses to be involved in their life (for example, families, carers and advocates).

2.1 Communities:

Could include, but is not limited to, how the individual is supported to engage with and access their local community, such as social and recreational activities, transport, leisure services, spiritual and cultural services and support, hobbies, education, housing provision and voluntary activities. For some individuals, their community will be very close to home, for others it will be much wider.

2.3 Partnership:

Working effectively together with the individual, professionals, networks, communities, agencies and organisations to enhance wellbeing and support positive and improved outcomes.

2.5 Others:

In this context, 'others' refers to everyone a worker is likely to come into contact with, including, but is not limited to:

- carers, loved ones, family, friends of those accessing care and support services
- colleagues and peers
- team members
- managers and supervisors
- professionals from other services
- visitors to the work setting
- members of the community
- volunteers

4. Understand the role of relationships in promoting health and wellbeing

4.1 Relationships:

Learners should consider the range of relationships important to individuals they are supporting. Consideration should go beyond immediate family and next of kin, and may include partners/spouses, extended family, friends, pets, neighbours, people in the community and other professionals. Learners should consider intimacy, sexuality and sexual relationships.

5. Be able to lead practice to promote individuals' health and wellbeing and achieve healthcare outcomes

5.3 Healthcare and wellbeing:

Could include, but is not limited to:

- regular health checks
- dental care
- agreed therapeutic activities

- administering prescribed medication or medical treatment
- promoting and supporting healthy lifestyle choices

6. Be able to lead practice in recognising individuals' relationships

6.3 Support, information and advice:

Could include, but is not limited to:

- clinical services
- counselling and psychosexual services
- family support workers
- mental health services
- interpreting services
- advocacy services
- sexual assault and referral centres (SARCs)

Could include, but are not limited to:

- models of learning and reflection, for example:
 - Honey and Mumford (1986)
 - o Schon (1983)
 - o Davys and Beddoe (2010)
 - Jasper (2006)
 - o Kolb (1984)
 - o Gibbs (1988)
- principles of critical evaluation
- principles of evidence-based practice

1.8 Factors:

Must include potential barriers and constraints.

2. Be able to lead learning and professional development practices

2.1 Available mechanisms and resources:

Could include traditional methods used for learning and development.

Must include advanced approaches with technology within learning and development (for example, remote learning platforms, e-learning, electronic portfolios).

Other examples could include:

- qualifications
- national occupational standards (NOS)

- apprenticeships
- · government initiatives
- budgets and funding for learning and development
- learning and development methodologies
- workforce intelligence
- performance management
- endorsement schemes
- quality marks
- remote and e-learning platforms

2.2 Learning culture:

Leading practice that embraces, provides opportunity for, and recognises the benefits of learning and professional development.

3. Understand the development needs of the adult care workforce relating to digital skills

3.1 Current drivers:

Examples could include, but are not limited to:

- digitalisation within the sector technology enabled care, digital care applications and mainstream technology
- increasing use of health technology and assistive technology
- digital needs of individuals using the service
- recruitment and retention of the workforce
- supporting accessibility and digital literacy
- efficiency and cost-effectiveness
- processing and management of information securely and supporting 'joined-up' care
- move to remote consultations and interactions

3.2 Others:

In this context, 'others' could include, but is not limited to:

- colleagues
- peers
- team members
- managers and supervisors

3.3 Core digital skills:

Could include, but are not limited to:

- managing information:
 - o use a remote monitoring system via a smartphone
 - update a digital care plan
 - o update handover records in a skilled way
 - work with files, folders and other media to access, organise, store, label and retrieve information
 - o follow and demonstrate the need for safety and security practices

- create, use and maintain secure passwords
- minimise the risk of computer viruses
- sharing data:
 - o safely share appropriate data with individuals and others
 - safely use password protection
 - o complete digital records accurately
 - store information safely
 - o safely use insertable and removable storage devices
 - o use email communication safely
- using digital skills in direct care:
 - help individuals use their assistive technology safely
 - o help someone access online services
 - o research local activities for an individual or others
 - set up and support a remote medical consultation or appointment for an individual
- learning and development:
 - o create a log in and password for a learning account
 - o print off evidence of learning
 - o access mobile learning via a table or smartphone
 - record learning digitally
 - o be able to bookmark a page to locate it again
 - o use search techniques to locate and select relevant information
 - be able to recognise currency, bias and copyright when selecting and using information

LMAC 18 Specialist areas of care (H/650/1963)

Unit summary

Building on the mandatory content, this unit will develop the learner's knowledge, understanding and skills in relation to leading and managing a service within own specialist area of care. Throughout the unit, the learner must apply each learning outcome and related assessment criteria to the specialist area of care within own service.

The learner will consider the impact of a condition on the holistic needs and wellbeing of individuals within own service (for example, dementia, physical disability, sensory loss, acquired brain injury, learning disability, autistic spectrum condition, substance misuse, profound and complex needs, multiple conditions, mental health, terminal illness).

The learner will then explore the impact of the condition for the holistic care needs of individuals. In order to do this, the learner will be able combine more than one specialist area of care. For example, the learner may wish to focus their leadership and management practice on supporting individuals with dementia, but also have the opportunity to show competence in end-of-life care, or the learner may wish to focus their practice on supporting individuals with a learning disability, but also show competence in positive behaviour support.

The learner will then review current research, policy and guidance related to own specialist area of care and reflect on how this informs their practice. This will require the learner to explore services and referral processes within own specialist area of care and will consider how to represent the rights and interests of individuals.

Understanding and skills in relation to leading and managing outcomes-based, person-centred practice must be evidenced to include reflecting, evaluating, reviewing and developing practice. Finally, the learner will be able to further develop their knowledge and skills within related specialist areas of care through devising a training plan.

The explanation must include care plan documentation outlining the assessment of needs for the individual with the condition referred to in 1.1 and how the holistic needs impact specialist care provision.

4. Understand how to access services in order to meet the needs of individuals in own service

4.1 Services:

A minimum of 3 services must be analysed.

6. Be able to develop outcomes-based and person-centred practice within own specialist area of care

6.1 Outcomes-based practice:

An 'outcome' refers to individuals' aims or objectives – the things individuals want to achieve or need to happen. Outcomes-based practice focuses on supporting individuals to achieve the outcomes most important to them and offers innovative approaches to enable this.

6.1 Person-centred practice:

An approach that sees the individual accessing social care services as an equal partner in their care and support who is at the centre of all decisions relevant to them.

^{*} Expert witness testimony should be used in line with the relevant assessment strategy/principles. This method must be used with professional discretion, and only selected when observation would not be appropriate. Those providing an expert witness testimony must be lead practitioners with experience of making judgements around competence. The circumstances that may allow for an expert witness testimony include:

- when assessment may cause distress to an individual, such as supporting a child with a specific need
- a rarely occurring situation, such as dealing with an accident or illness

- confidential situations, such as safeguarding strategy meetings, where it would be inappropriate for an assessor to observe the learner's performance
-  Simulation. A learner's portfolio of evidence may only include simulation of skills where simulation is permitted by the relevant assessment strategy/principles.

Assessment strategies and principles relevant to this qualification

This qualification has been developed to meet Skills for Care requirements.

The key requirements of the assessment strategies or principles that relate to units in this qualification are summarised below.

The centre needs to ensure that individuals undertaking assessor or quality assurer roles within the centre conform to the assessment requirements for the unit they are assessing or quality assuring.

Appendix C

Digital skills

Digital skills have been highlighted by the sector and Skills for Care as a key learning and development priority for care managers.

To enable and encourage the workforce to develop and improve digital skills, we have embedded these skills throughout this qualification. We have also created an optional unit specific to digital skills with content that is aligned to essential digital skills.

The sector has identified 6 key themes in relation to priorities for care managers' and digital skills:

- building own confidence in using digital skills
- enabling and encouraging the workforce to embrace digital skills
- using technology to support and monitor people accessing care and support
- digital security and safety
- availability and use of different digital platforms and systems
- learning online/remotely

We have mapped these key themes to both the mandatory and optional units to support the learning and development of digital knowledge and skills for care managers and the adult care workforce.
